

G. OSGOOD ANDREWS

Ex-President of N. Y. Glass Co.,
a Descendant of Haym Solomon

G. Osgood Andrews of 2444 Devoe Terrace, the Bronx, who had been prominent in the glass industry for years, died yesterday in St. Clare's Hospital at the age of 77.

Mr. Andrews was a descendant of Haym Solomon, a financier of the American Revolution, and Maj. Benjamin Nones, an aide to Washington and Lafayette, and was a member of the Sons of the American Revolution.

He retired in January as a representative of the Gotham Construction Company.

He leaves a widow, the former Lydia de Lima, and a daughter, Mrs. Karl S. Woerner.

The New York Times

Published: March 2, 1944

Copyright © The New York Times